Special Projects

Advanced Public Administration Program (2002)

This program was created by an agreement between the California State University Chancellor’s Office and China Scholarship Council of the Ministry of Education. Fifty Chinese public administrators and faculty members participated in a summer program at three California State University campuses between mid-June and mid-September. California State University, Fullerton, was chosen to host fifteen persons who studied Public Administration with a focus in City Government through the Extended Education Program. Their studies included local government structure, finance, urban planning, land use and an introduction to GIS. These courses became known locally at CSUF as The China MPA Program.

My participation in the China MPA Program was as follows:

Courses taught:

- Introduction to GIS
- Land Use
- Urban Planning

Supervision of Capstone Projects for four participants

Field Trip Coordinator for local government tours and visits.
